The Liberal

Government

The Enemy of the Poor Man.

During the last session of the Dominion Parliament and while discussing the North-West pre-emption bill, John Heron, the Conservative representative of this district, brought in a resolution for the benefit of the poor man with a family.

This resolution contained a clause which permitted a man to have the resident duties done by his wife and family, thus allowing him to work wherever he could find employment, thus enabling him to keep the wolf from the door and besides to develop his homestead.

But what did the Government do with it? Just what you would expect the enemies of a poor man would do with it, they voted it down to a man. Why did they vote this bill down? The only reason that I can give for such concerted action by the Liberal Government and its supporters is the gain the Government makes out of the partially developed and uncultivated homesteads.

The poor man allows himself into the belief that he can get a homestead, but when he gets one and builds a shack with lumber at $20 a thousand, pays a man $10 a thousand to draw it out, his little savings are depleted he must needs go to work at any place he can get it, and at the end of six months residence and do settlement duties. He struggles thus for a few years and at last is forced off his land for lack of settlement duties, the Government confiscating the poor fellow's last dollar.

Many a poor man in this Western country can vouch for the accuracy of the above description and no doubt John Heron knew of such instances when he brought in his common-sense bill and no doubt many of the Liberal members knew of such instances, yet they, the Liberal members, voted to a man against it.

Is there anything further needed in the support of the title of this communication, for it is evident that if the Liberal Government were the poor man's friend they would have given Mr. Heron's bill their unanimous support.

A POOR MAN.

Business Change

Within the last few days the Claresholm Furniture Store has changed hands, Mr. H. B. Tilden becoming the sole owner of the concern. In future the business will be run under the name of H. B. Tilden and not as the Claresholm Furniture Co. as before. Mr. G. W. Ringrose retains the undertaking part of the business.

For some time Messrs Ringrose and Tilden were partners in this business and both are well and favorably known in the district. We are pleased to know that Mr. Ringrose is not leaving town and we wish Mr. Tilden every success in the furniture business.

Stettler, Burned.

One Man Lost his Life.

Stettler, Oct. 12th.—One life was lost and many buildings burned as the result of a disastrous fire which broke out here at an early hour this morning. Leslie Miller an employee of the Riggs & Whyte Co., whose store was destroyed, along with many others, was burned to death while sleeping on the premises.

The loss was very heavy but most of the burned buildings were covered by insurance.

The origin of the fire has not been learned but it is thought that a pile of old rags which were lying at the rear of the burning alley caught fire from spontaneous combustion.

Communication

Editor:
Claresholm Review,

Dear Sir:—

It may interest your readers to know that up to date nearly 100,000 bushels of grain have been shipped from Claresholm, this being the largest distribution from any one point in Canada with the exception of Moose Jaw, which of course has exceptional facilities for loading cars, owing to its being a divisional point. We have apparently little kick coming on the car supply when all is said in the matter.

Regarding Car 117822 I am informed that this car was placed on 2nd Oct. released on 9th Oct. and went forward on 8th Oct.

Yours truly,

W. A. Corawall.

Skating Rink

The building of a skating rink in Claresholm has been talked of every fall almost since this town was started and as yet nothing has been done. Surely there is some one or a number of people in town who are enterprising enough to take hold of this matter and build a rink. It seems certain that it would be a paying proposition and not only that but it would fit a long felt want in this town by establishing a place where the young people could spend the long winter evenings. There is no place except the pool rooms and hotels where young men can congregate and spend a pleasant evening with their friends. As the usual influence of these places are of a rather questionable nature some place like a skating rink is badly needed for the winter.

Mr. Herron's Great Reception in Macleod.

Macleod, October 10th, 1908. — John Herron, M. P. (Conservative), held a most successful meeting here on the evening of the 9th instant. The large town hall was packed to hear the popular candidate's address. Many ladies were present and the meeting certainly indicated that Mr. Herron has almost the entire support of the people.

In the campaign up to the present the Liberals have not on one occasion given the Opposition an opportunity of speaking, but the bills for the Herron meeting gave a special invitation to the Liberal candidate to take the platform against Herron. He did not put in an appearance, nor was there any person to represent him, except the editor of the Chronicle, who only said "You lie!" That was the defence to the many charges made and proven to be false.

The meeting was opened by Mr. Harrington, the Socialist candidate, who for an hour expounded on the principles of his party, but failed to apply them to the modern times. Mr. M. G. Macleod, after requesting any Liberal to come forward, then got busy.

Mr. Macleod expressed his regret at the attitude taken by the Macleod Chronicle since Mr. Macleod's candidature took the unnatural twist in that paper. He read from the paper what it had said about Mr. Herron and what he had done in the House of Commons, but he also read from Hansard which proved to the hilt that the Chronicle and every person connected with it, told what was not the truth in the recent publications. Mr. Macleod referred to the personal abuse in scathing terms and it was with regret he read pages of one or two of the reports to the House for the year 1877, where the Liberal candidate, Allan Banning McDonald, was associated of an offence under the election law of the time, and asked if that was the man wanted, needed or desired by the people to be entrusted to conduct the public business as a sacred trust reposed in him. Mr. Macleod handed the Chronicle a richly deserved roast for the personal slander, unjustifiable insinuations and falsehoods against Mr. Herron and proved that that "sneer" was unworthy of the slightest contention.

Mr. Herron was called upon and was greeted with a demonstration seldom seen. After the greeting, which took fully five minutes, Mr. Herron, for two hours, dealt with the main questions of the day. His own record as a representative and the record of the Government was handled with ease. The losses, the recent slanders, falsehoods, the Provincial Act for Alberta and her sister provinces, and the consequences of the reservation of the public domain was brought home with vigor and from the mouths of effect it must have told. Never did Mr. Herron descend to anything of a private nature except to answer some of the charges made as to his stewardship, which were proven to be a cruel, misreading and misinterpretation. "The Liberals have been informing the country that Herron was asking people to vote against his opponent because he was a Roman Catholic, but they have to prove it. Mr. Herron deposited $200 and asked 'the four men of the day' in this town to decide whether the Liberals proved their charge the money was to be given to the Macleod general hospital, but this Liberals were to also do likewise if they failed to prove their statements. There was not an offer and the opinion is that they will not accept the challenge nor can they prove their slanderous charge.

The meeting was almost absolutely with the Conservative candidate beyond any doubt. It was not a meeting like the one held by the Honorable Frank Oliver, with the approval of five or six known leaders, but, at least, 90 per cent. of the listeners concurred with the conservative candidate. Mr. Herron made a splendid impression with the strangers present at the meeting and his old time friends had no cause to complain. Mr. Herron is now in the peak where he is receiving splendid receptions in all the towns. The election of the Conservative candidate is assured and bets are being made on a majority of four to six hundred.

Was ever a Country more Disgraced?

Before the commission appointed by parliament to inquire into the trade relations existing between the North Atlantic Trading Co. The secretary of the company, Mr. Preston, stated that the members of the company would rather commit suicide than to have their names made known. How it appears to the Canadians:

Men of Canada, where do we stand? What is our status in foreign land, since Laurier is the premier?

From over the ocean, broad and wide.

The terrible threat of suicide swiftly wings the atmosphere. Fear our confidence is misplaced. For was ever a country more disgraced.

Men of Canada, what are we told About the people of countries old Since Laurier is the premier?

Of open conviction they are afraid, In companies only with us they'll trade; What think you friend, when you hear?

For was ever our confidence misplaced, For was ever country more disgraced.

Men of Canada, are we so mean That man, or company should ever deem

To work for us degrading?

From the North Atlantic, hear the cry:

"Tell but a name, by our hands we die

So fear we the upraising."

Shall we, again, have confidence placed

In him, who has us so disgraced.

Men of Canada, why so disgrace Your home in the eyes of foreign race

With Laurier as the premier?

A change, we need to uphold our name,

And land that will ever claim

Us land to any land is peer.
